

Fractional General Counsel

77 Meridian provides an embedded senior legal partner, integrating corporate counsel, national-security advice, and specialist outside expertise as needed.

For growing technology and national security businesses, sophisticated legal needs often outpace the resources of a lean organization. Reactive, fragmented counsel can distract leadership, slow decisions, and expose the business to avoidable risk.

Our fractional counsel approach

01 ALIGN

Identify priorities and exposures

Assess legal needs, governance, contracts, business goals, and national security risks. Set a focused, workable advisory scope.

02 EMBED

Bring senior counsel onto the team

Advise founders, executives and boards directly on decisions, commercial terms, corporate integrity, and emerging issues.

03 PROTECT

Anticipate sensitive risks

Address foreign investment, export controls, cyber and insider threats, protected data, and AI trust and safety as applicable.

04 ADVANCE

Support execution and growth

Align legal strategy with government engagement, contracting, partnerships, and expansion. Coordinate specialists when needed.

How 77 Meridian helps

Corporate and commercial counsel

Governance, agreements, critical documents and day-to-day executive advice.

National security guidance

Government engagement, regulatory readiness and classified security planning.

Cyber, data and AI risk

Sensitive information, cyber-resilience, insider threats, and responsible AI.

Specialist counsel coordination

A trusted senior legal advisor who coordinates corporate, regulatory, and national security matters, engaging specialist outside counsel when appropriate.

Why 77 Meridian

Embedded partnership

Proactive counsel integrated with leadership and business decisions.

Security-informed advice

Senior government and private-sector national security judgment.

Direct and efficient

Senior professionals do the work, with predictable retainer options.

“Embedded legal judgment that frees leaders to focus on their mission.”
